

A TASTE OF Russell

Explore Russell's beautiful landscape and unique heritage on an electric bike!

From your stunning base at the iconic award winning Duke of Marlborough Hotel & Restaurant on the picturesque Russell waterfront, you can discover much of what Russell has to offer.

Electric bikes are an exciting way to discover the charming town of Russell, home to New Zealand's first sea port, its first European settlement and the country's first capital in nearby Okiato.

Much of the original layout of this historic town remains and zipping around on electric bikes is one of the best ways to discover all of what this pretty coastal town has to offer.

Start your journey from the heart of Russell's township. Venture out to see the historic museum, Pompallier Mission, take a dip at Long Beach or kick the motor into gear to burn up Flagstaff hill. Venture to Omata on your bike, by foot or by car.

These NZ designed electric bikes mean you can go the extra mile when the muscle fatigue kicks in, and with some peddling assistance by you, your bike's charge will take you all the way!

DETAILS

Pompallier Mission 1839. A saintly sanctuary in this once-sinful southern sea. Come and touch the past. In New Zealand's only surviving pioneer printery and tannery, our eye-opening tours and hands-on demonstrations bring this fascinating early story to life.

Undoubtedly one of the best heritage tours in the country.

Russell Museum – telling tales of when Cook landed, the Hell Hole of the Pacific to sweet stories of how Russell got its name Kororareka, sweet penguin which came from a legend of a wounded chief calling for...well come along and find out.

Omata Estate - Steeped in history Omata Estate has established itself as one of Northlands premier wine growing sites. Omata wines have won international acclaim and their goal is to pleasantly surprise your palate with every taste. The stunning location makes it a place to enjoy life at its best.
